"Within a city neighborhood, we created a calm, light-filled kitchen for quiet mornings and casual dinner parties."
–COLBY MATTSON

Our clients envisioned a kitchen that felt like a calm, quiet oasis in the city. Designed to make the most of the light, the space features a range, hearth and pantry with privacy from the adjacent homes, and a casual dining area overlooking the south-facing backyard for abundant morning sunlight.

A gleaming tiled backsplash with burnished copper pans, a wood-topped round table and upholstered furniture add warmth and texture to the refined neutral palette.

When the neighbors stop by for a glass of wine, a two-sided fireplace creates natural flow between the kitchen and the living room.

project credits:
· architectural design: charlie & co. design, ltd.
· interior designer: ellington & co. design
· contractor: streeter custom builder
· photography: spacecrafting